8. PUBLIC COMMENT:

Derek Blackwell, 1301 South Ocean Boulevard, North Myrtle Beach, asked the Council if they remembered when Ocean Boulevard was two lanes, when cars drove on the beach, or the pink polka dot house. He stated he had lived in the city a very long time and he had a permit issue that he didn't understand why he could not receive and wanted to address the Council. He inquired why he was not allowed to get a permit from Public Works for his walk over and gazebo, when he had met all the city regulations and received a permit from OCRM and DHEC. Manager Mahaney stated he received a letter on December 1, from Micki Fellner, Assistant to the City Manager, stating the position of the City and why the permit would not be granted. He stated the plans that were submitted to the City versus OCRM were two different plans. The City had never permitted a gazebo seaward or angled walkways. Manager Mahaney forwarded those documents to the Council. Mr. Blackwell asked if he could send his response to the Council. Mayor Hatley stated she did see some of the documents and the two different drawings that were straight out and at an angle. She stated if he built a gazebo on an angled walkway, it would block the view of the adjoining property. Mr. Blackwell stated it was only about a 6 degree angle and there were angle walkways all over the place. Mr. Blackwell stated he had a letter from his neighbor which stated he was happy about what he proposed to build.

Mayor Hatley suggested they sit down and talk about the situation with the Staff. Manager Mahaney suggested this situation may go toward litigation and this wasn't the place to discuss the details of it. The elected officials were not tasked with enforcing the agreement with the Army Corps of Engineers. Chris Noury, City Attorney, stated Manager Mahaney was correct and one of the primary reasons to be considered was the impact this could have on federal funding regarding beach erosion. Every step must be taken to not negatively impact that funding. Mr. Noury stated he would be glad to go over them with Mr. Blackwell. Councilman Thomas asked which set of drawings were approved by DHEC. Mr. Blackwell stated they both were within the guidelines. He stated the angled walkway was the preferred drawing and stated that OCRM loved it, because it kept the staircase off the primary dunes. He stated he was making less of an impact on the dunes. Manager Mahaney stated the drawings were different and wanted to discuss it at a later time. Mayor Hatley stated for further discussion, he needed to refer to Mr. Noury.

Cheryl Kilday introduced her team from Destination North Myrtle Beach.

Sherry Kelley, 708 Creekfront Road, North Myrtle Beach, wanted to make the noise ordinance stronger in the City. She had lived in her home for 30 years, where her back porch was a refuge. When Antonio's started to have outside bands, the noise became very evasive and there has been no respect for the surrounding residential community. They have been so loud, she was unable to watch television. Her windows rattle, like military helicopters make them do. It was destroying their quality of life. Mayor Hatley stated the Chief of Police would be handling those calls. Manager Mahaney stated there would be a work session in the near future to address these issues. He asked Ms. Kelley to call the non-emergency police number to make sure she reported any problems and it could be documented. Ms. Kelley asked if the public would be involved in the future meetings. Manager

Mahaney stated there would be a workshop and two readings with any ordinance changes and the public was welcome to attend.

Shepard Broadfoot, 702 Creekfront Road, North Myrtle Beach, asked the Council take into consideration the special circumstances of the location of this business and what could become of it. It could turn into a bar and not a fine dining restaurant. They face up the creek, not across the creek. People across the creek are affected. He stated even Frank Boulineau called when they had a rock and roll band, which was causing a lot of noise. The restaurant was a nuisance, not only for the noise, but for the parking. He stated they have called the police several times. He had pictures on his phone of how close the homes were to the restaurant. One of his neighbors has pictures that won't stay on the wall, because of the noise. He didn't know what was going to happen with the business, but the noise ordinance needed to go further. Mayor Hatley confirmed they were going to get on top of the situation, because there was more than one restaurant and bar, which were near residential areas, that have moved their bands outside and this had generated several complaints.

Wes Wagner, 710 Creekfront Road, North Myrtle Beach, stated he had been in the Cherry Grove area since 1959 and was 200 feet from Antonio's. When there was a band inside the building, he could not turn his television up loud enough to be able to hear it, it was so overwhelming. He had complained for two years and called the Police Department six or eight times. Mayor Hatley stated she didn't realize this had been going on for two years. Mr. Wagner stated he had the police come out one time, when the music was extremely loud and no one was even in the building. He stated he had basically given up and went to his local Councilman to seek help. On November 1, they had a band and it was so loud, you couldn't hear yourself think. Mr. Wagner stated he had a friend that lived a mile away that called, because he heard the band from their house. He was concerned that their property values would decrease and was looking to sell his home. If he were to sell, he would have to disclose there was a nuisance. He asked the Council to consider an ordinance that was already on the books for an arcade. Any noise made within the arcade must be contained within the building.

Don Worth, 712 Creekfront Road, North Myrtle Beach, stated he had been a resident for 20 years and the noise was intolerable and invited anyone to come around to hear it. His home was located 13 feet away from the building and the noise knocks pictures off of his wall. He asked the Council to look closely at the ordinance and put restrictions on it. The restaurant was a financial failure and it was trying to bring in band after band to make money.

Mayor Hatley assured the residents the Council would be looking into the matter in the near future.

9. ADJOURNMENT:

Mayor Hatley thanked everyone for coming and wished them a wonderful Christmas holiday season. The meeting was adjourned at 7:56 PM.
